

Lithograph map printed in colours, dissected and mounted on linen, folding into original red cloth covers, with publisher’s label.

EARLY TWENTIETH CNETURY GLASGOW

Map of the City of Glasgow Shewing the Original Area in the Twelfth Century, and The Areas which have been added from that period until the present time.

Author
RENWICK, R. & A. B. McDONALD

Publication date
May, 1909.

Publisher
John Bartholomew,

Publication place
Glasgow,

Physical description
Lithograph map printed in colours, dissected and mounted on linen, folding into original red cloth covers, with publisher’s label.

Dimensions
1010 by 1080mm (39.75 by 42.5 inches).

Notes
The map graphically shows the huge expansion of the City of Glasgow during the nineteenth century to become the largest city in Scotland, and one of the most important cities in the British Empire.

Bibliography

Provenance

Price:

Inventory reference: 2539

© Daniel Crouch Rare Books Ltd | 2025