

Engraved map.

HUGHES BARBADOS

A Map of the Island of Barbados Drawn from an Actual Survey, and from the Observations of the revd. Mr. Griffith Hughes M.A.F.R.S. By Thos. Jefferys, Geographer to His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales.

Author
HUGHES, Griffith

Publication date
[1750].

Publisher
Thomas Jefferys,

Publication place
London,

Physical description
Engraved map.

Dimensions
425 by 360mm (16.75 by 14.25 inches).

Notes
A wonderful early map of the island of Barbados complied by the English parson Griffith Hughes. This map was issued as a fold-out plate in Hughes' botanical volume entitled, The Natural History of Barbados published in 1750. The small folio work contained beautiful natural history plates many drawn by G.D. Ehret and was subscribed to by the leading naturalists of the day. The map itself is a very detailed copperplate engraving divided into parrishes and listing all towns, churchs, forts, plantations, “sugar works, roads and “rocks under water.”

Detailed map of Barbados depicting towns churches, fortifications, plantations, sugar works of three, two, and one mill, plantations of lesser note, rocks under water, coastal features, roads, and parishes.

Bibliography
MCC 31.

Provenance

Price:

Inventory reference: 2673

© Daniel Crouch Rare Books Ltd | 2025