

Double-page woodcut map.

THE FIRST 'MODERN' PRINTED MAP OF SWITZERLAND

Tabvla Nova Heremi Helvetiorv.

Author

WALDSEEMULLER, Martin

Publication date

1513].

Publisher

Publication place

[Strasburg,

Physical description

Double-page woodcut map.

Dimensions

620 by 450mm. (24.5 by 17.75 inches).

Notes

Waldseemüller's 'modern' map of Switzerland published in the seminal atlas of 1513.

Along with the twenty-seven Ptolemaic maps, Waldseemüller also added a second section of twenty modern maps, which was the first major attempt to break away from the Ptolemaic tradition. The present map of Switzerland, is the first modern - i.e. non-Ptolemaic - map of the country. It differs stylistically from the other modern maps and was probably adapted from a manuscript map by Konrad Türost of circa 1495.

Bibliography

Provenance

Price:

Inventory reference: 2634

© Daniel Crouch Rare Books Ltd | 2025