A separately published blank Ottoman atlas with maps of Australia, Oceania and the World. 8°, 36-42 pp., facing pages marked with the same number, with colour lithographed plates, printed covers, stapled. Small tears in margins, some sheets including the wrappers loose, staple rusty and broken, soft folds, slightly age-toned and stained, some ink staining on the wrappers, otherwise in a good used condition.

AUSTRALIA, OCEANIA, WORLD

[Ottoman atlas]

Author
[ANONYMOUS]

Publication date
c1914].

Publisher

Publication place
[Istanbul,

Physical description
A separately published blank Ottoman atlas with maps of Australia, Oceania and the World. 8°, 36-42 pp., facing pages marked with the same number, with colour lithographed plates, printed covers, stapled. Small tears in margins, some sheets including the wrappers loose, staple rusty and broken, soft folds, slightly age-toned and stained, some ink staining on the wrappers, otherwise in a good used condition.

Dimensions
245 by 188mm (9.75 by 7.5 inches).

Notes
An unusual Ottoman geography exercise book, focusing on Oceania, Australia and the World, was published for students. Each map is accompanied on the opposite page by a blank grid of equal size, upon which students were meant to duplicate the map in their own hand. The maps are not marked with any names nor locations.

The maps showcase Oceania, South East Asia, Australia, Map of the World with marked, what we surmise is the historical trading area of the Ottoman Empire, Western hemisphere, Eastern Hemisphere, and the two pole projections.

The atlas was advertised as a separate publication in a 1914 Ottoman school atlas showing maps of Africa. According to this, it was published as a part of a series of 6 pamphlets with maps of Europe (2 pamphlets), Asia (1 pamphlet), Africa (2 pamphlets) and Oceania (1 pamphlet). The publications had altogether 42 maps and had a sequel pagination.

This pamphlet with maps numbered between 36 and 42 was possibly the last in the series.

We could not trace any institutional copies on Worldcat.

Bibliography

Provenance

Price: £850

Inventory reference: 15747

© Daniel Crouch Rare Books Ltd | 2025