

Pair of chromolithograph maps.

MAPPING THE MALE AND FEMALE HEARTS

Geographical Guide to a Man's Heart. Geographical Guide to a Woman's Heart.

Author

LOWERY, Jo

Publication date

January 1960.

Publisher

McCalls,

Publication place

Physical description

Pair of chromolithograph maps.

Dimensions

330 by 525mm. (13 by 20.75 inches).

Notes

"Two allegorical maps of romance, dense with contemporary stereotypical references. The Man's Heart, for example, is bordered by the Don't Fence Me In Fence and Impenetrable Wall of Ego, while the Woman's heart features the State of Security adjoining Love of Love Land. Harmon 2004, 52-53.

These maps derive from two Victorian images, attributed only to "A Lady" and published by the Kellogg Brothers of Connecticut. "The Open Country of Woman's Heart" illustrates "the different options available to an eligible young woman - and the different choices she might choose to make." The companion piece, "The Fortified Country of Man's Heart," shows "a citadel, bristling with defences intended to ward off attack." (P J Mode)

Bibliography

Provenance

Price:

Inventory reference: 23207

© Daniel Crouch Rare Books Ltd | 2025