

Engraved map

THE BREAKING OF THE BRABANT LINES

[Caricature Map – War of Spanish Succession]

Author
LIGNES, Francois de

Publication date
[c.1705]

Publisher
Francois de Lignes a l'Enseigne d'Heyleferri,

Publication place
Filmont,

Physical description
Engraved map

Dimensions

Notes
A finely engraved caricature map of the Battle of Elixheim (marked on the map Heilesem), fought during the War of Spanish Succession (1701-1714). To the centre of the image is a large figure of a Dutch soldier (?) holding a sword and pistol. To his right is a sketch map of the environs of Elixheim (Eliksem) showing the defensive line, and river, to the foreground are four allied generals. The gentleman marked 'Engelsman' is most certainly the Duke of Marlborough. To the left is a sketch map of the defensive line between Brugge and Ghent. Below is a verse in both Dutch and French about the battle.

Bibliography

Provenance

Price:

Inventory reference: 1135

© Daniel Crouch Rare Books Ltd | 2025